WILLARD WINNER
OVER CARL MORRIS

Slow Bout Between Heavyweights Jeered By New York Fans

Joe Willard, the Texas cow puncher, and Carl Morris, the Oklahoma Giant, enjoying the distinction of being the two biggest men in the boxing game today, battled through ten uneventful rounds at Madison Square Garden last night with the honors at the finish, if any existed, in favor of the tall Texan. Morris failed to show any of the aggressiveness that he recently displayed in his bout with Gunboat Smith at the Garden and his performance was a big disappointment. Willard showed himself a better boxer, a cleaner and harder hitter.

The slowness of the big fellows stood out all the more prominently through a contrast with the semi-final bout of the program. This brought together a pair of willing lightweight fighters in Walter Mohr and Harry Gordon, both of whom pounded away at each other like triphammers every minute of the thirty that they spent in the centre of the ring. It was a case of the preliminaries saving the show, as all the early bouts furnished action, with the semi-final making a fitting climax for the little fellows. When the heavyweights waded through their ten rounds like two truck horses the same crowd that had yelled itself hoarse in approval of the little fellows alternated with hoots and jeers.

There was no lack of willingness on the part of either Morris or Willard, but they could not get inside Willard's guard when the two were at long range, and when they came together, the Texan simply stunned his opponent's arm in such a way that Morris could do no effective work at infighting. Willard ranks far ahead of the Oklahoma as a boxer, but he three times as weak at following up the advantage which some of his hard punches gained for him.

AMATEUR FOOTBALL

The Sons of Rest and the A. O. O. B. will play their second game of the series Saturday at the M. A. C. Last Saturday three members of the A. O. O. B. were injured and it is doubtful if Delvecchio or Jasper Hayes will be able to play. Pat Negay strained a cord in his leg, but he is expected back in the game by Saturday.

The Fultons played the Housatonics a no score game Sunday. The Housatonics claim the Fultons outweighed them 15 pounds to a man. But the Fultons will bet $50 the Housatonics outweighed them or at least were not outweighed. The Fultons will play the Mohicans Sunday at Hal's lot for the 115 pound championship of the city. Edward Daly, manager.

TO-DAY IN PUGILISTIC ANNALS.

1860—James O'Neil and J. Fitzpatrick fought 4 hours and 20 minutes at Berwick, Maine, this being the longest bare-knuckle battle on this side of the Atlantic. The longest fight with naked fists in ring history was that between Mike Madden and Bill Hayes at Edinbridge, England, in 1848, which went 3 minutes over 3 hours. This record has been denied by Australian sporting authorities, however, and they allege that a bout between Jim Kelly and Jonathan Smith, fought near Melbourne in 1856, went a full quarter of an hour over 3 hours. All of these records are eclipsed by the glove battle between Bowen and Burke at New Orleans twenty years ago, this bout lasting 7 hours and 15 minutes.

1898—Mike Warr defeated Tommy Daborth in 8 rounds at Boston.

1912—Packer McFarland stopped Battling Terry in 34th round at Dayton.

CAP ANSON WILL APPEAR ON STAGE

Veteran Baseball Player To Recite Monologue Written by George Cohau

Adrian C. ("Cap") Anson, the celebrated old leader and slugger of the Chicago National League club, is to be one of the leading features of "old home" week for the ball players at one of the New York theatres. He will make his re-entry as a thespian Monday next and bid for popularity against such celebrities as "Rube" Marquard and Blossom Selley and Charlie ("Red") Dootin.

In the meantime "Cap" has gone to "Portchester" for three days to prime himself for the big "slam," which will be a sort of monologue built upon diamond reminiscences.

"I should be in pretty soft for the debut," said Adrian last night before leaving for Portchester. "You see, I feel nearly as one of the ball players of the country should be here for the National League meeting. They should make it easy for me. I think I shall please them, too, for I have a pretty good idea of the game."

"Cap" was asked how he would like to take charge of the Cincinnati Reds.

"Let Garry Herrmann make me an offer," said he, "provided he'll give me a three years' contract, can make a winner out of any club in the circuit by that time. I wouldn't accept for a day less."

ADVISES PLAYERS
NOT TO SIGN YET

Washington, Dec. 4.—According to a member of the Washington baseball club spending the winter in the capital, John Henry, one of the representatives of the National on the executive board of the Players' Fraternity, has written personally to each one of Griffith's players asking them not to sign until the contract is heard from him.

As has been previously published, the demands of the Baseball Players' Fraternity at the hands of the national commission and thus far no action has been taken by that august body.

Until the fraternity hears officially from the commission every effort is being made to restrain the players in both of the major leagues from affixing their John Hancock to the contract papers.

In discussing the matter with Manager Griffith the other day the Old Fox intimated that he did not propose to send out contracts to any of his players until late in January and intimated that no trouble in the slightest degree was anticipated.

"I have always treated my ball players fairly in the matter of their contracts," said Griffith, "and I am sure according to their work, not on past reputations or future promises."

"If a man delivers the goods for me he is well paid for it. Players like this and I never have any hold-outs."

The chances are that the majority of major league managers will wait until the commission acts upon the demands of the Players' Fraternity and until such a time as the fraternity shall have issued a statement before 1914 contracts are sent out.

The outcome of the whole shooting match will be the certain conclusion will be made by the national commission, the Players' Fraternity will issue a statement that everything is O. K. and business of signing up for next season will start with a rush.

DIGGER STANLEY IS AFTER YANKEE BOXERS

(By T. S. Andrews.)

"Digger" Stanley, the British bantam weight champion, apparently is not to retire, the very latest news of the foreigner being that he is negotiating for a match for the world's title with Johnny Coulton, who is the title if Coulton does not soon defend it, though his defeat of Charles Ledoux is strenuously contested by the French sport of London is angling for this contemplated Ledoux-Coulton or Ledoux-Williams battle. A victory over Stanley would go far to substantiate the American's right to premier honors and a return contest with Ledoux would follow as a matter of course. In Paris such a clash would draw a big house, especially as Ledoux occupies a place in the esteem of French boxing fans second only to the incomparable Georges Carpentier. Too bad that Williams and Johnny can not be brought together and settle the American title question first. If Coulton is not physically fit for the battle of Paris, then it is up to Johnny to pass over the best of the Baltimore ad and permit him to defend it.

It is confidently stated that the National Sporting club of London is angling for this contemplated Ledoux-Coulton or Ledoux-Williams battle. A victory over Stanley would go far to substantiate the American's right to premier honors and a return contest with Ledoux would follow as a matter of course. In Paris such a clash would draw a big house, especially as Ledoux occupies a place in the esteem of French boxing fans second only to the incomparable Georges Carpentier. Too bad that Williams and Johnny can not be brought together and settle the American title question first. If Coulton is not physically fit for the battle of Paris, then it is up to Johnny to pass over the best of the Baltimore ad and permit him to defend it.

SCHOOLS THAT HAVE
"Y" MEN AT YALE

The Yale News has compiled a list of the "prep" schools of men who have won their "Y" in football for the last 10 years. The following facts are interesting to note: Thirty-nine different schools are represented. Five had had captains; Hotchkiss, three; Hill, Exeter and Andover have had two each, and Lawrenceville one. Andover and Hotchkiss have had at least one "Y" man every year.

Only 10 schools have had more than one "Y" man. The list follows: Andover, 2; Hotchkiss, 18; Hill, 15; Exeter, 13; Dartmouth, 4; Lawrenceville, 3; Chicago Latin school, 2; St. Paul's, Garden City, 2; Groton, 2.

ATHLETICS WILL OPEN IN NEW YORK

Giants To Start In Philadelphia And Boston In Brooklyn

New York American fans will have a big treat next opening day. Frank Farrell will draw the biggest attraction in the baseball universe for his opening card. When Frank Chance's rejuvenated Yanks make their first home bow on the Polo Grounds they will have their work cut out for them, as Connie Mack's Athletics and Giant Tamers will be their opponents. This will be the first time the Mackmen have opened the local American League season since 1908.

While the Yanks will have their hands full battling with Mack's World's Champs, the Giants will be over in Philadelphia struggling with their ancient rivals.

In the meantime, while the clans of Pop Knickerbocker and Billy Penn are trying to annihilate one another, there will be a celebration over in Ebbets Field. Governor Tenney, the coming president of the National League, will toss out a brand new ball to Manager Robinson and will start a red-hot go-between the Superbas and the Boston Braves. Brooklyn fans perhaps would have preferred to have had the Giants for their opening attraction, since George Stallings has assumed charge of the Braves the Beantowners are a good drawing card.

AUTUMN BASEBALL

The salaries of Tinker, Brown, Kling and Sheppard, last year with the Reds, totaled $23,000. Garry Herrmann will not give up anything like that the coming season for four men in their places.

Buck Weaver, of the White Sox, was the champion hooter of the American league last summer. The south-side shortstop made 70 errors, and the next one to him was Donnie Bush, of the Tigers, who made 56.

Friends of Rube Waddell have heard from him since he reached San Antonio and say that he is improving in health. The physicians who have examined the big southpaw they have been unable to find traces of consumption.

Charlie Schmidt, former backstop of the "Tigers," who had quite a reputation as a fighter, was assessed $75 recently by a Fort Smith jury for assaulting a neighbor and breaking his jaw and inflicting other injuries.

Grover Land, Nap catcher, who goes to Indianapolis next season, has promised to keep his seat on the wagon. He says Mike Kelly has strong hopes that he will make good with the Indians.

Artie Shafer, the Giants' infielder, has filed the report that he will not return to play under McGraw next year. Tillie says he has one more year under his present contract and that he will be one of the first men to reach Marlin Springs next spring.

The Federal league will help many of the players holding out this winter in the big league to get what they are after. The major leaguers are getting scared over the way the Feds are signing up some of the players and making offers to others.

The Fleischmanns are in control of the Cincinnati club, and it was their idea to have Harry Stephens elected waveland and director of the club and travel with the team next year to watch expenses.

FOOTBALL FAN IS SORE
LISTEN TO HIS GRIEVANCE

To the Sporting Editor:

Will you kindly call the attention of Mr. Keenan, manager of the Remington-Yost eleven, who is taking his eleven to Torrington Saturday afternoon to play the Torrington team, that I think he is handing the followers of the football game in Bridgeport a raw deal. The games his eleven have played in Bridgeport so far this season have been well patronized, and I cannot see why he will go to Torrington next Saturday afternoon to play for the state championship. Bridgeport will furnish more spectators on a Saturday afternoon than Torrington will take into consideration that there are people in Bridgeport that will not go to a football game on Sunday, but who are only too glad to have the opportunity to go to a game on a Saturday afternoon.

The games that his eleven have played so far this season (with the exception of the Washington Glees game) have been well patronized, and when it comes to the game that is to decide the state championship, why does he take his eleven out of town to play. As probably the majority of the football followers in Bridgeport think that the Torrington eleven will have to play some football to defeat Mr. Keenan's eleven, I cannot see why Mr. Keenan should go to Torrington and play for the state championship instead of playing in Bridgeport.

Remington-Yost Follower.

BROOKLYN AND ROSERUS
TO CLASH ON SUNDAY

The Brooklynans will play the Roseruses on Sunday afternoon at Forest-bush for the championship of the city in the 145 pound class. As the Roseruses defeated the fast Oaklanders they will give them the claim to the championship. The Brooklynans have won all of their games but one (that being out of town). The Brooklynans will meet at their club rooms, Wood avenue and Wade street tonight to practice at eight sharp.

Jersey City, Dec. 4.—Frank Hagus, public safety director, complains he walked through a dozen poets for half an hour and did not see a policeman.

EASTERN ASSOCIATION MEETING
OVER UNTIL DECEMBER 16

Big Football Crowd Going On Special Train To Torrington Saturday For Great Game

(By Wagner.)

In order to please some magnates who wish to attend the International and National league meetings in New York, President O'Rourke has postponed the Eastern association gathering until December 16. He has issued a call for December 10 but as Owner Clark of Hartford and others desired a change, it was given them. The Eastern magnates want to be on hand at the big league meetings so they can make deals for players.

It is probable that the season will open a week later next year and close later. Some bad weather was encountered at the start in the last campaign. The matter of the post season series with the New England league winners will still be a topic. The Torrington closed a week earlier than Lowell in the recent series and the Senators gained nothing by being idle for a week. An effort will be made to have the two leagues close on the same date.

At the Palace alleys last night Mort Lindsey defeated Jimmy Watt by taking seven out of ten games. Watt was off form but he made the best score of the evening, 262. A return match will be played in New York Sunday night.

There will be a special train to carry the followers of the Remington-Yost football team to Torrington Saturday for the big football battle. Joe Waters and Al Burdick have made arrangements to get the transportation and it is probable that a big crowd will make the trip. A rate of $2 for the round trip has been secured, which is considerably less than the regular fare. The train will leave here at 12:40 AM and will make the run without stops, arriving at Torrington about 1:50. Immediately after the contest the special will leave for Bridgeport and is due to get here about 8 p. m. A delegation of 200 fans from the Yost factory will go and these rooters are asked to assemble at Yost field tonight to make arrangements for cheering.

Manager Leavy of the Blue Ribbon basketball team expects his players to put up a stronger game next Tuesday night when they meet the Glenbrook five of Stamford at Colman's hall. Lack of practice counted heavily against the locals last Tuesday and they will be thoroughly drilled before they take the floor next week. Smith and Morrison are always sure to get started but it is figured that with another week's work they will be able to hold their own against the strong visiting squad.

Bob Polwell, the old Pennsylvania football star who coached the Washington and Jefferson college team last season, has signed for next year. His team played Yale a scoreless tie and went through the season without a defeat.

The rumor that "Hurry Up" Yost will quit as Michigan coach is deemed out of the window. Yost's contract has expired but it is thought that there will be no difficulty in arranging terms.

Manager Gene McCann of New London is one of those who want the Eastern association meeting postponed. Gene desires to attend the International league meeting in New York, December 8 and 9 and also wants to be seen at the National league gathering on December 10.

The Remington-Yosts will hold their last practice before the Torrington game at the field tonight. All members are asked to be present to master the new plays.

paper it was stated that the T. U. S. team was seeking a game with the High school five, but Manager Corcoran wishes to state that he offered them the opportunity of playing his charges last Saturday but T. U. S. declined.

H. H. S. FIVE WILL PLAY TRADE SCHOOL

A basketball game is on the boards for Saturday at the local Y. M. C. A. when the H. H. S. quintet will stack up against the five wearing the black and gold of the State Trade School.

The red and black have been somewhat weakened by the loss of "Henry" Ervin, the sorrel topped basket shooter, but in his place Meany, a star on the second team a year ago, will be played. The other men to make up the team are Lippold, Murphy, Cosgrove, Chapman and Capt. Banks.

MATTY DECLINES

Giant's Star Says He Wouldn't Accept Job As Head Of Fraternity

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 4.—Christy Mathewson, New York pitcher and one of the leading officials of the Baseball Players' Fraternity, who is spending the winter here, is much perplexed concerning the report from Pittsburgh that David L. Fultz was to assume the presidency of the Federal League. Besides announcing the change in office for Fultz the story indicated that Mathewson was to succeed Fultz as leader of the Fraternity.

"I can't understand Fultz's attitude in the matter if he has given up the Fraternity for the outlaw league," declared Mathewson, who is a first vice president and a member of the board of directors of the Fraternity. "Coming at a time when the players' demands are to be considered by the National Commission, such an action is more to be wondered at than I would not consider it. I appreciate the honor such a position would give me, but at the same time I would have to refuse."

HARVARD PLAYS IN NEW HAVEN JUNE 16

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 3.—The Harvard baseball scheduled for 1914 was announced last night. There are twenty-six names booked for the Crimson nine, exclusive of the annual series with Yale. The season will open at Cambridge, Mass., on June 16, when the Yale series will be played on June 16 at New Haven. The following day, which is Harvard's class day, will witness the two teams struggling on Soldier's Field. If a third contest is necessary it will be played in New York on June 20.

Home and home games are to be played with Brown, the University of Pennsylvania and with Duquesne. Princeton will be met but once, the contest being scheduled for Cambridge on May 23. The annual spring trip South will start April 18. West Point, Catholic University, Annapolis, Georgetown and Columbia will figure in the holiday junket. A game with the Boston Red Sox earlier in the season is also a possibility.

DOES HARVARD MAKE IT EASY FOR STARS?

(New Haven Union.)

Some years ago Harvard began to realize that athletic defeats were not a Harvard asset. The best coaches money could buy were employed. Libby, Harte and other famous names were held out to promising prep school material. It is said that Brickley and Mahan really wanted to come to Yale, but they couldn't quite appreciate the prospect of a way through college of stiff scholarship requirements, arduous training performances and daily tending of walks, furnaces and waiting on tables to escape their wayward ways. Harvard has alluring scholarships to offer, strictly amateur in nature, which completely relieved the promising athlete of the work and worry of earning his way through college while he labored for the team and plugged on the side to keep his scholarship passable. Brickley and Mahan in any event didn't come to Yale, but went to Harvard, the rumor has it that both of them are not exactly working their way through the Cambridge institution of learning. Resigning from the football game, Harvard, Yale 0: 1913, Harvard 1914, Yale 5. At least that is the story going the rounds.

It ought to suggest something to prospective sportsmen that Harvard's relations with its future rival, if Harvard and Yale are to match dollars for the acquisition of brilliant athletic talent, was to the future of the game. Obviously, however, Yale cannot hold to its high ideal and traditions of strictly amateur sport and continue to jeopardize its athletic record and prestige by playing with a university represented, to call a spade a shovel, by semi-professional teams.

Do we blame Harvard for providing such athletic honorariums as Brickley and Mahan are reputed to enjoy? Not a bit of it. We do blame Yale, however, for its coming to some definite understanding with Harvard and all its other collegiate rivals as to the number of such so-called athletic scholarships each university should offer and the amount that should be given to promising athletic material in the way.

Make five or ten athletic scholarships of $500 each, that the best men training for the team and maintaining a proper scholarship stand may be relieved of the work and worry of earning his way. Yale has no right to expect its poor athletes to keep up in their studies, train for the teams and earn their way through the college, all at the same time. That many have made the grade is due to the fact that the Harvard program that is fairer to the men involved and a more certain insurance of victory.

There is much room here for a definite understanding between Yale and all its athletic rivals. In our judgment the future status of the intercollegiate sport in this country and Yale's athletic record depends upon a proper adjustment of this matter.

"Danny" Dunn will hold the political situation in Willimantic in the palm of his hand. Mr. Dunn is not alone some runner but some vote getter. Of course his majority has been cut to 29 but as long as the "Dunn" and "nine" remains with him he will no doubt continue to be mayor of Willimantic. By and by the name of Dunn will be so engrained in the records of Willimantic that it will all Dunn for years to come.—Penny Press.

COLUMBIA SORE
AT YALE COLLEGE

Resent Action Of Elis In Engaging Howard As Hockey Coach

Careful guidance by the controlling authorities will probably be necessary to prevent an athletic tangle between Columbia and Yale because of the announcement from New Haven that Tim Howard, the hockey coach, had contracted with the Yale team for his services for the coming season. Early in October it was announced by the Columbia University committee on athletics that Howard had been approved as a coach for the Blue and White hockey team for 1914-15, and he had already taken charge of the Columbia players in their preliminary practice.

The announcement from New Haven that Howard had deserted Columbia and accepted a Yale contract was received by the undergraduates on Morningside Heights with a touch of resentment, although Harry Fisher, graduate manager of athletics, refused to discuss the problem that the state of affairs presented.

SAYS JOE TINKER
WOULD HELP BROOKLYN

"If we had Tinker I think we'd make a great fight for the pennant." This is the opinion of Charles Ebbets, president of the Brooklyn Dodgers. If you're not a Brooklyn rooter the chances are maybe you would disagree with the esteemed squire. However, there is some reason for Ebbets' opinion. There is one hole in the Brooklyn club that needs a little tinkering. This is at shortstop. If Ebbets can swing a deal which will bring the former Cub star and erstwhile Red Sox leader to Brooklyn the McKeevers interests will make a ten strike in baseball. With Tinker on the Brooklyn club baseball men all over the country are after him. He is in a position to give the Giants a hard fight for the honors next season.

Tinker has been in the pastime for quite a spell. But Joe is far from being on his last legs. He is still able to hop about quite a bit. That he will rank high is shown by the fact that several big league clubs are after him. Tinker says he will quit baseball unless Herrmann trades him. If Tinker is sincere it would pay Herrmann to dispense with Ebbets. Not alone is he a good fielder, but a valuable batter as well. The addition of Tinker would give Brooklyn another 800 per cent. little and with Dabbert, Wheat, Stengel and Robinson would have one of the best hitting clubs in the National League. If he wants Tinker Ebbets will have to fight hard for him to purchase him.

Tinkler today is one of the best shortstops in the business. He is an experienced player and would fill the bill without any trial being necessary. Shortstops are easy to get, but the right kind are hard to come by. He is a good fielder, but a valuable batter as well. The addition of Tinker would give Brooklyn another 800 per cent. little and with Dabbert, Wheat, Stengel and Robinson would have one of the best hitting clubs in the National League. If he wants Tinker Ebbets will have to fight hard for him to purchase him.
